

PH. D. IN HUMANITIES
AND
LONERGAN UNIVERSITY COLLEGE IN COOPERATION WITH THE
GOETHE-INSTITUT-MONTREAL
LECTURE SERIES, 1990-91

The Trajectory of Modernity

*What is, or was, modernity?
How did it begin?
What was its relation to capitalism?
to transformations in the state,
religion and culture?*

*These lectures are given in relation to a seminar offered by Loneragan University College:
"The Works of Max Weber"*

FALL TERM 1990

October 11
Harvey Goldman
Columbia University

"Max Weber: Rationalization, Self, and Power"

7:00 p.m. / Room H-763
1455 de Maisonneuve W.

October 25
Guy Oakes
Monmouth College

*"The thing that Wouldn't Die:
Remarks on the Refutation of
The Protestant Ethic."*

7:00 p.m. / Room H-763
1455 de Maisonneuve W.

November 22
Wolfgang Schluchter,
Universität Heidelberg and University of California, Berkeley

"The Emergence of the Bourgeois Lifestyle"

8:30 p.m. / Room DL-200
7141 Sherbrooke St. W.

WINTER TERM 1991

February 25
Harry Liebersohn
University of Illinois

"German Intellectuals and National Identity"

8:30 p.m. / Room T.B.A.
7141 Sherbrooke St. W.

March 14
Roslyn Bologh
College of Staten Island
and Graduate Center
City University of New York

*"Manliness and Modernity:
A Feminist Dialogue with Max Weber"*

8:30 p.m. / Room T.B.A.
1455 de Maisonneuve W.

March 21
Guenther Roth
Columbia University

"The Failure of Weber's Politics"

8:30 p.m. / Room T.B.A.
1455 de Maisonneuve W.

*With the support of the Concordia University
Visiting Lecturers Committee*

1455 de Maisonneuve Blvd. West
Montreal, Quebec H3G 1M8

Concordia
UNIVERSITY